

THE CADIZ SENTINEL.

CADIZ, JULY 9, 1845.

Eastern Agency for the Sentinel.

V. B. PATTERSON, Esq., is our authorized agent for the collection of subscriptions and advertisements for the Sentinel, and receiving therefor, in the cities of Philadelphia, Baltimore, New York and Boston. His offices are No. 59, Pine street, Philadelphia; south-east corner of Baltimore and Calvert streets, Baltimore; No. 20 Ann street, New York; and No. 16, State st., Boston.

CUTTINGS AND SCRIBBLINGS.

Hickory Pole.—Our democratic friends raised a beautiful hickory pole on the eve of the glorious Fourth, and attached a black pennon, with an appropriate motto, to the top of it, as a suitable token of respect to the memory of General Jackson.

The editor of the Boston Courier holds the following language:

"It is true as anything written on the records of eternity, that if Great Britain should obtain undisputed possession of California and Oregon, nothing will prevent her from at least attempting to reduce the United States to colonial submission."

"Our thinking there is a deal of truth in all that."

The Oregon Question.—Mr. Packenham, the British Minister, a correspondent of the Tribune says, has privately expressed his belief that the Oregon question will be settled without war, unless there shall be a serious effort to make trouble about it in Congress or by the press.

"The Republican is to be enlarged, the present form being too small to contain the gigantic outpourings of the soaring genius of its editor."

The Nashville Whig speaks highly of the portrait of Gen. Jackson, which has just been taken by the Artist Healy, for Louis Philippe.

An Exposure.—Gustavus C. Hebbe, the distinguished Swedish writer on European politics, has again arrived in New York. It is said that he will immediately communicate to the American public the real views of the English and French Governments with regard to the annexation of Texas.

Capt. Tyler is an aspirant to the Senate seat of W. C. Rives, the apostate. He would just fit Rives' place, but the democracy of the Old Dominion want some one who is better.

Worship of Imitation.—When President Polk and his family, Mr. Bancroft and his lady, and Mrs. Marcy, and Mr. Mason and family, accompanied by Mrs. Madison, paid a visit to Mount Vernon, they did not impose themselves on the hospitalities of the mansion, but had a pleasant picnic in the woods.

Kentucky has a gross population of 800,000, of which only 31,495 are slaveholders, one in every twenty-five a slaveholder.

All persons interested in slavery in South Carolina amount to only 32,700, out of a population of 600,000.

The locomotive on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, proceeding westward on Tuesday night last, ran over a cow some distance beyond Harper's Ferry, which caused the cars to run off the track, shattering one of them considerably, breaking the legs of one of the passengers and injuring slightly several others.

It is stated in a letter from Stockholm, published in the N. Y. Express, that FREDERICK BURNER, the popular novelist, intends leaving London next August, to spend a year in this country. She will be warmly received by her many admirers.

Information from the prairies represents Col. Kearney's expedition, and the various companies of Oregon emigrants, as making rapid progress. The grass is up, and furnishes sufficient food for the cattle and horses.

British troops.—The Halifax Post announces the arrival in that harbor of two ships with British troops from Great Britain for the colonial service. Part of them were to be disembarked at Halifax, and the others taken to Quebec.

Democratic Increase.—Mr. JOHN BROWN, of Bedford township, says the Bedford, Pa. Gazette, was on Saturday, the 31st ult., presented by his wife with a pair of fine healthy boys, one of which he calls JAMES K. POLK and the other GEORGE M. DALLAS. Good!

Concession of Colored People.—A Committee of the colored people of Ohio, have issued a call for a State Convention, to be held at Columbus, Ohio, on the 10th of August.

Rather Odd.—What would folks fifty years ago have said, asks the Pittsburgh Age, had they received a London paper with an engraving of a fire in Pittsburgh before the ruins had ceased smoking? Yet such is the case now. We received a paper of this kind on the 4th, and lit a cigar among the ruins on the same morning.

Georgia.—The Democratic State Convention at Milledgeville have nominated Mr. McAlister of Savannah, as their candidate for Governor.

The Crops.—The Washington (Pa.) Examiner speaks in the most encouraging manner of the crops in that county. The late refreshing rains have produced this result. The Wheat looks well, and will excel that of last year by at least 25 per cent. Rye will be amply abundant for all useful purposes. Oats although short in stock, are filling up well in the head and promise to make a good yield. Corn is now doing finely. This is indeed cheering news.

An editor having read in another paper that there is a tobacco, which if a man smoke or chew it, "he will forget he owes a dollar in the world," instantly concludes that many of his subscribers have been furnished with the article.

There has been consumed by fire in the United States, during the last two months, property to the amount of twelve millions of dollars!

Dividends.—The Merrimack Manufacturing Co. have made an extra dividend of ten per cent. out of their surplus profits, besides receiving a sufficient sum to build a new mill, which will be the largest in Lowell.

—We have received the July number of Graham's Magazine. It sustains its former character. The embellishments are, "The battle of New Orleans," being No. 5, of a series of American pictures, and the "Young Shepherd," $3, per annum.

A most disgraceful speech.—The editor of the Boston Atlas spoke as follows, in the Council of Boston, a few days. The man and his sentiments will be repudiated by all liberal men:

"Mr. President, as it cost the city some $15,000, a few years since, to receive Gen. Jackson, if we can now get red of him for $500, I have no objection."

California.—It is now ascertained that this whole territory has declared itself independent. The people have driven out the Mexican authorities, and have modelled a republican government similar to the United States and Texas.

More signs of "Rain."—The Columbia (Pa.) Spy states that several wealthy capitalists in Lancaster county are making arrangements for the erection of a number of cotton factories in that county.

Hon. George Bancroft, Secretary of the Navy, has received a diploma of Honorary Member of the Academy of Sciences at Berlin, in honor of his literary reputation, and especially of his History of the United States.

"No compromise, but at the cannon's mouth," is said to have been General Jackson's last expression of opinion on the Oregon question.

Bill Johnson, as he is familiarly termed, the "hero of the thousand isles," is at present in the city of New York.

Hon. James Dellet, of Alabama, declines the nomination for Governor.

The crops in Illinois are safe, an abundance of rain having fallen there.

In Michigan and Indiana there will be one-third more wheat raised this year than any previous one.

The last Fish Story.—During a recent shower of rain near Louisiana, numbers of small fish, three or four inches long, fell with the rain.—They were alive and playful.

Ex-President Van Buren.—We learn from the Palladium, that Mr. Van Buren, accompanied by one of his sons, was at Worcester, Mass., on the 26th ult., on his return home from a visit to some friends on Long Island. A great number of citizens availed themselves of the opportunity to pay their respects to that distinguished gentleman.

The Monumental City.—A monument is about to be erected in Baltimore, to the memory of General Jackson.

Not very belligerent.—The Mexican Congress, at the last accounts, had adjourned for a short time, without having taken any decisive steps towards the resistance of annexation, or made any preparations for a war with the United States.

—R. M. RIDDLE, Esq., the recent postmaster at Pittsburgh has commenced the publication of a new daily whig paper in that city, entitled "The Commercial Journal." Mr. Riddle is a gentleman of fine talents, and will make the Journal a good paper.

Wheat Crop.—The Franklin (Tenn.) Review of the 20th ultimo, states that the farmers in that section are nearly all done harvesting their wheat crops, and, without a single exception, so far as heard, they concur in representing it as equal, if not superior to any wheat crop raised in Western Tennessee for several years past.

General Scott, whose recent sudden departure from New York caused so much speculation, and even gave rise to war rumors, went to visit a sick family to Richmond. On Tuesday last, as we learn from the Union, Gen. Scott was in Washington city.

Bank in Steubenville.—The American Union of last Friday evening says: "The Whigs announced in Wednesday's Herald, that they have at last succeeded in getting the necessary amount ($100,000) of stock subscribed for a branch of the 'State Bank of Ohio,' at this place. One-third of the amount must be paid in by the 5th of next month, on which day they will elect their officers."

The Ohio Statesman of the 30th ult., contains the valedictory of SAM'L MEDARY, Esq., its late editor. Mr. Hazewell, his successor, we learn, will not take charge of the paper for two or three weeks yet, in consequence of the difficulty of leaving his present residence for his new home.

—The Illinois Legislature has incorporated the Williamamie Brass Band! with the privilege of issuing notes, as a matter of course.

Magnetic Printing Telegraph.

We were a few days since shown a specimen of printing, said to have been performed by a magnetic telegraphic apparatus now in this city, which, with the representations made to us of the hitherto undreamt of facility of operation secured by the invention, would seem to indicate that we are yet but at the commencement of telegraphic science. We have been promised an early opportunity to see this wonderful apparatus, and witness its operation—which done, we will probably be able to do something more than merely excite public curiosity and wonder on the subject.—N. Y. News.

General Jackson died on the same day upon which Sir Richard Jackson, commander of the British forces in Canada was seized with his fatal illness. The latter survived until the next morning.

The "National Intelligencer" of yesterday, announces in two lines, the death of Gen. Jackson, and devotes seventeen, including size of eulogy—to the announcement of the death of "Sir Richard Downes Jackson, K. C. B., lieutenant general, commanding her Britannic Majesty's forces in British North America."—N. Y. News.

Dr. Patterson, recently appointed postmaster, at Rome, Ga., has been arrested, charged with robbing Col. Hackett's office of $1000, and the county clerk's office of $85. Some $1700 was found in his possession, but he denies the robbery.—N. Y. News.

THE BASTILLE OPENED!—DORR IS FREE!—FREEMEN, REJOICE, REJOICE!

—We have never in our career as an editor, been called upon to chronicle intelligence that pleased us half so well as that which follows.—The patriotic Dorr, once more breathes the free breath of Heaven. Our heart bounds and leaps with joy as we write the words. His poor, pitiful, tyrannical, Algerine persecutors, at length were compelled to yield to public opinion! The intelligence of Dorr's release reached us on last Friday evening, the 4th of July, and the long train of patriotic feelings which were coursing in our bosom, instead of being broken off, were only brightened and kindled up afresh!

From the Providence Republican Herald, June 28.

The Liberator Bill.—The bill for the liberation of Gov. Dorr, reported by the committee, a copy of which is in our legislative record, was passed by the Senate and under discussion yesterday in the House; but no decision had been had on it, by advice received from Newport, up to the early hour at which our paper went to press yesterday afternoon. It was the prevailing opinion, amongst those who had recently come from Newport, that the bill would pass both houses, as reported; but this may be a matter of conjecture only. It may have been amended, and the good sense of the legislature may have suggested the propriety of uniting unconditional liberation and restoration, in order to quiet the public mind. We can make no comments, till we see the bill as actually passed.

GOV. DORR LIBERATED.

We stop the press to announce the fact that the bill before the legislature for the liberation of Gov. Dorr, and for a general amnesty, as given in our legislative proceedings, was passed in a law this morning. The news, brought with an authenticated copy of the act, was brought to this city, yesterday, at half past two o'clock, and was immediately carried over to the prison by Mr. Walter S. Burges, who took with him a carriage to receive Gov. Dorr, and convey him from the loathsome scene of his wrongs and sufferings, who is now (at 3 o'clock) making preparations to quit the prison. Hundreds of citizens are crowding the prison door, and hundreds more, in carriages, on horseback, and on foot, are thronging the roads leading to that hated place, to get a glimpse at this victim of persecution, and once more welcome him on his restoration to his friends, the people, and to the world.

He comes forth, not restored to his civil rights, but he comes to receive a joyful welcome, and the deepest sympathy and the warmest reception from a people who highly appreciate his public services and noble sacrifice in their behalf. The citizens are animated by a warm and generous enthusiasm by this event, but the most commendable tranquility prevails in the city.

The loud booming of the cannon from Smith's and Federal Hills, and the waving of the flags from the hickory poles and flag-staves, give an unequivocal token of the general and undisturbed joy which pervades all ranks and sexes in the city. Gov. Dorr is now restored to his liberty, and the people are rejoicing with exceeding great joy.

From the Providence Gazette, June 28.

DORR LIBERATED!—SPONTANEOUS OUTPOURING OF A JOYFUL PEOPLE.

In the second and third editions of yesterday's paper, we briefly attempted to describe the effects produced upon the friends of Thomas W. Dorr, on the announcement of the passage of the liberation act, as well as the demonstration which awaited him on re-entering the world.—The accounts had hardly fallen from the lips of Mr. Burges, who brought the news from Newport, proclaiming freedom to the noble captive, before a chord was touched, which vibrated through every part of the city. Flags went up to the tops of the hickory poles and flag-staves, and cannons were fired, while every store, and workshop, and mill sent forth hundreds of citizens, all of whom rushed with the greatest alacrity to the esplanade, fronting that "tomb of the living," the Rhode Island State Prison; every heart swelling with the highest emotions. After some half hour's delay, the door of the prison was thrown open, and Governor Dorr stood again free; then, such a burst of ecstatic joy as went up from every mouth—words are inadequate to describe that scene; we shall never, never forget it.

Governor Dorr was escorted by the multitude, from the prison to his paternal mansion, where he was left to the enjoyment of the heart-felt congratulations of a devoted father and mother. At half-past seven o'clock in the evening, it was announced that he would proceed from his father's house to that of the Hon. Hezekiah Willard, in Cranston; and his friends were desired to meet him on the bridge, and proceed with him there. An hour before the appointed time, Market square began to be thronged with people; and when the time of Governor Dorr's coming arrived, it contained a dense mass of human beings. Governor Dorr came down Main street in a carriage, accompanied by two or three of his nearest friends and admirers, preceded by Col. Samuel H. Wales as chief marshal, and his assistants, and followed by a long line of carriages. When he reached the corner of Market square, a shout of joyfulness went up from the multitude, which continued at intervals until the procession reached Mr. Willard's gate, upwards of a mile. After the arrival there of Mr. Dorr and his numerous escort, which took place during heavy discharges of artillery stationed in the neighborhood, Mr. Nathan Porter, in behalf of the assembled multitude, gave him a welcome to the world and to his friends in the following eloquent language:

GOVERNOR DORR.—DEAR SIR: In behalf of the vast multitude of your friends, whose glad shouts you have this day heard ascend with unbounded joy for your deliverance, I bid you once more welcome back to life. I can ill express to you the rapture which each heart in this great assembly feels in again being permitted to behold you restored to liberty; nor will my feeble words express adequately the deep feeling which has pervaded the hearts of your many friends in your own native State, and in the nation, since your unholy incarceration. No tongue can tell the many tears which have been shed in your behalf; and it is impossible to convey to you the estimation in which you are held in every honest heart throughout the land. I will not—for I am aware that it will not be consonant with your feelings—recapitulate the many bright deeds for which the people feel their gratitude; but I cannot refrain from informing you that while you have suffered, your country has felt the impress you have indelibly left upon her. The great principles for which you have so nobly suffered are not extinct, but yet rise triumphant in our nation, casting back a shadow of reproach and condemnation on those who, like your oppressors in R. Island, are base enough to deny the everlasting principles of American liberty. I say that these principles are yet triumphant; and your friends feel that, but for you, sir, this could not have been said.

We had nearly lost the landmarks of our principles in forgetfulness, and might have been overcome by our wily foe, had not the people here received instruction in the faith of their fathers. And to you, sir, we are eminently indebted for our instructions in these principles.—We have endeavored to cherish and to promulgate them, and the result has shown that the nation has been benefited. Yes! wherever has been heard the glorious name of democracy, it has been coupled with the name of Dorr. Your good deeds, and your sufferings in the people's cause, are not known alone to us, but throughout the length and breadth of our great country, the name of Dorr has been upon the lips of every philanthropist, and it has been sounded in notes of praise from the tongue of every lover of his country—it has been loved, too, by every American soul of sufficient magnitude to entertain a wish for liberty.

"It is my belief, in common with the belief of millions, that had not the principles of our faith been sounded in connexion with your name, at this day our common country would have been in the hands of rulers, whose professed principles are opposed to our institutions, and whose rule would have tended to enslave the people. I can with pride inform you that your name has been a watchword for the democracy, whose champion we claim you yet to be."

"We feel assured that you will rejoice with us when I inform you that we have made such use of the principles for which you have so long and so nobly labored, as to place within the chair of state at Washington a man whose heart is filled with patriotism, and who lives to be a blessing to his country. I mean the pure democrat and people's friend, James K. Polk, President of the United States."

"The result of this day has shown to you that it was not in vain that you appealed to the people of the State and of the nation to reverse the unholy sentence passed upon you. The people of the nation did reverse that sentence in the last Presidential election; and the people of this State have accomplished it now."

"I fear, in your present feeble state, that I shall inflict pain if I proceed to address you farther, and will close by wishing you, in behalf of your many friends, long life, health, and happiness. May your future life be as peaceful and happy, as your past and present has been, and is, useful, bright and glorious. May the pathway of your life be strewn with flowers, and be overshadowed by the love which now fills the hearts of your grateful countrymen."

Cheers were given with the greatest heartiness at different points made by the speaker; and when he concluded, and it was announced that Gov. Dorr would reply, the air was literally rent with shouting.

Gov. Dorr, though very feeble, addressed the audience for a few moments, in reply to Mr. Porter, and was listened to with breathless attention. He thanked the people for their kindness, and stated that he adhered firmly to his principles; there could be no compromise of them; that, however much his enemies might have attempted to trample him under their feet, he believed his head and heart were still in the right place.

His words were greeted with an incessant cheering. In fact, the very sound of his well known voice seemed to possess a charm which filled all who heard it with the most unbounded enthusiasm.

Gov. Dorr retired, Welcome B. Sayles, Esq., our valued postmaster, was called out, and delivered one of the happiest addresses we ever heard.

We cannot refrain from here expressing our joys at Governor Dorr's discharge; an event which we have bent our whole energies to aid in accomplishing—never, we may say, with much confidence or hope. He is free; and, though he comes among us shorn of his rights, yet we repeat he is still free; and thank God for that!

The Agricultural Convention.

This body adjourned on yesterday afternoon, after a session of two days. There were delegates from twenty-seven counties in the State in attendance, which, considering the busy season of the year, was a large turn out. The samples of wool presented for inspection were very fine, as were also the different implements of agriculture. Mr. Gill, from Mt. Pleasant, was among the delegates, with samples of silks, the product of our own beautiful State, rivaling in fineness the highly finished imported article.—Ex-Governor Trimble, of Highland county, presided, and in adjourning the convention, he said that he had presided in that same chamber, as Speaker of the Senate, when many of Ohio's gifted sons were members, but never had he seen a body of men, taken as a mass, more gifted, or who preserved better order, than the farmers before him had, during the session of the convention, which was about to end.
